“HAVE YOU DONE YOUR HOMEWORK?”

9 reasons why you should insist on Eurostone™ for your new kitchen benchtop!

1 Three (3) times harder than Granite

Yes – one of earths hardest and most resistant minerals, Eurostone™ is made in Germany using 94% crushed quartz and has a flexural strength more than 3 times harder than Granite.

2 Hygienic & completely non-absorbent

Yes hygiene does matter. Due to the compact and non-porous structure (0.015%) Eurostone™ never requires sealing or re-polishing as it has no pores in which dirt and bacteria can hide. Unfortunately the same cannot be said of other surfaces which have countless pores that become a hiding place for fungi and bacteria.

3 Outstanding gloss level consistency

With the rigorous testing and German quality control systems in place, Eurostone™ gives you guaranteed gloss consistency and premium gloss levels per colour. Be wary of low gloss levels as these indicate low quality material, poor polishing procedures, and a porous structure resulting in a unhygienic and nondurable surface. Ask about our gloss meter testing results.

4 Durable and scratch resistant

Eurostone™ is very durable and scratch resistant due to the natural hardness of quartz with a measurement of 7.0 on the MOH scale (Measurement of hardness). This rates alongside the hardest of minerals like Topaz (8), sapphire (9) and diamond (10)

5 Any bench top thickness

With Eurostone™ you choose the bench top thickness to suit your taste - from 12mm to 120mm and more if you wish. The only limitation is your imagination.

6 First-Class yet affordable

Sounds expensive? We believe you'll prove Eurostone™ to be the most superior yet affordable solid surface solution available giving you a lasting first class experience for less. Get free samples and a quote today - you'll be pleasantly surprised.
